The CTSI Training and Professional Development Program supports the training and advancement of clinical and basic science investigators. A broad spectrum of opportunities are available for faculty, fellows, Ph.D. students and research personnel (see summary table on reverse). CTSI trainees and scholars represent all six colleges of the UF Health Science Center, and all 16 colleges at UF participate in the CTSI. Key programs are highlighted below, including training grants. Details for all of our programs are available at www.ctsi.ufl.edu/education.

TL1 Predoctoral Training Program
Develops skills for a career in multidisciplinary clinical and translational research. Combines a team-science approach, mentoring and didactic training. Covers up to two years of funding, plus support for lab and training expenses and other activities.

KL2 Multidisciplinary Program for Junior Faculty
Provides two years of financial support and research training to develop the skills necessary to build a well-funded, collaborative career in clinical/translational research, including partial salary support to cover approximately 75 percent assigned effort, plus fringe benefits.

Contact: training@ctsi.ufl.edu

Mentor Academy
Strengthens the skills of research mentors and increases the success of both mentors and mentees at UF.

About the CTSI
The UF CTSI works on many fronts to improve research and health. It provides resources for research teams, career development programs, pilot project funding and an extensive network of local, state and national partners.

CTSI Web Portal
Visit the CTSI’s website for information about additional programs and research services: www.ctsi.ufl.edu.

CTSI Listserv
Subscribe to the CTSI listserv by emailing Claire Baralt at cbaralt@ufl.edu.

The UF CTSI is supported by NIH Clinical and Translational Science Awards UL1 TR000064, KL2 TR000065 and TL1 TR000066, and by significant matching commitments from UF’s Office of Research and College of Medicine.
